SITUATION OVERVIEW

Situation

More than 50 per cent of Afghanistan’s population is in dire need of humanitarian assistance due a combination of crises: the effects of decades of conflict, a protracted and severe drought, the effects of other intense climate-related disasters, extreme economic hardship exacerbated by sanction-related impacts and unemployment, a weak health system which was already stretched by COVID-19 and most recently, by the re-emergence of vaccine preventable diseases, and system-wide gaps affecting the health, water, education, energy, and public service sectors. The country is facing one of the world’s worst food insecurity and malnutrition crises, with around 20 million people in crisis or experiencing emergency levels of food insecurity, and more than half of all children under-five projected to face acute malnutrition. With the combination of the severe drought – which has affected the entire country’s territory, and the impact to the agriculture and livestock sectors, which account for the bulk of economic activity, in such dire condition – compounded by the economic hardship, hundreds of thousands of households have been forced to adopt negative coping mechanisms as many are stuck in a quagmire of debt while prices of essential commodities continue to rise beyond reach. The economic situation is, in addition, driving millions of people into poverty.

Restrictions on protection, constraints relating to the participation of women and minority groups, and displacement inside and across borders are adding to the situation. Furthermore, there has been significant disruption of basic service structures over the past year, partly exacerbated by reluctance of some development funders to channel support via the new authorities. Additionally, a somewhat parallel structure, in which local authorities and actors are not the main drivers, has emerged with the potential of undermining sustainability of investments being made and hindering localization gains.

Red Cross Red Crescent action to date

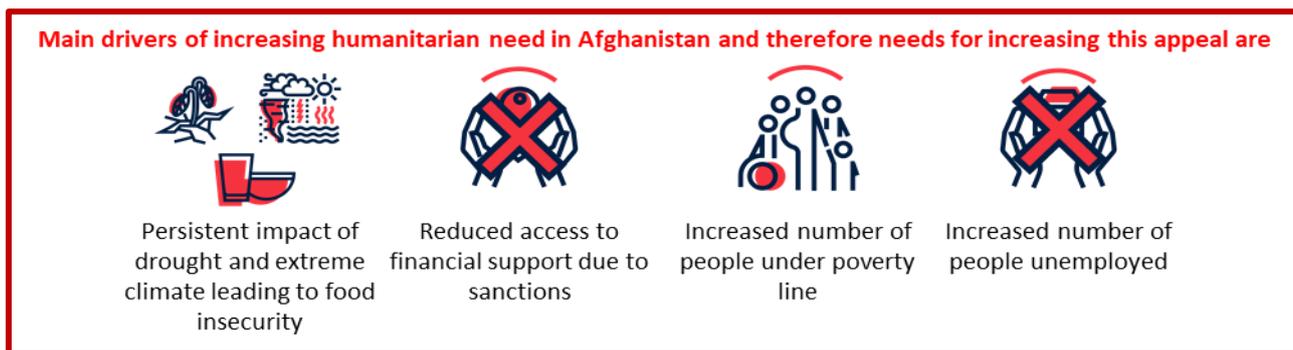

Since the start of the operation in March 2021, IFRC and its membership has been able to support ARCS to reach 1.2 million people across 20 provinces of Afghanistan with humanitarian assistance.³

³ For more details refer to Operations Update 5 issued on 3 June 2022.

EMERGENCY APPEAL REVISION

Against the backdrop of the catastrophic humanitarian situation, the IFRC Secretariat is increasing its Emergency Appeal from CHF 36 million to CHF 80 million and extending the operation's timeframe until 31 December 2023. The increase in funding requirements will enable IFRC to scale up humanitarian assistance as well as to implement interventions that bridge to development in Afghanistan. It also extends the operation's geographical coverage from 19 to all 34 provinces of the country and increases the target to 1 million people.

Put together with the IFRC Secretariat's Operational Plan for 2022 and 2023 (CHF 50 million), ARCS own funding for 2022 and 2023 (CHF 25 million) and funding by Participating National Societies working bilaterally in Afghanistan (CHF 45 million), the Federation-wide funding requirements until the end of 2023 amounts to CHF 200 million.

Collectively, the IFRC and its members are aiming to deliver assistance to two million people across 34 provinces of Afghanistan, translating to 10 per cent of the affected population.

TARGETING

The IFRC Secretariat Emergency Appeal operation is aiming to reach 1 million people across all 34 provinces of Afghanistan. This is an increase from 560,000 people and 19 provinces respectively compared to the targets that were outlined in the second revision. Within the provinces, prioritization of districts will be informed by the scale of needs, unmet gaps, and capacities of local branches of ARCS among other factors as will be consulted with key stakeholders. The stakeholders will include relevant IASC clusters, Red Cross Red Crescent partners in-country, local authorities, and communities.

Selection of households and individuals to receive assistance will be informed by existing selection and exclusion criteria and will utilize Community Engagement and Accountability (CEA) approaches. IFRC and ARCS will ensure consultation with members of target communities (including women, children, and people with a disability), community elders, public authorities, IASC clusters and other humanitarian organizations.

PLANNED OPERATIONS

The strategy of the IFRC's supported response will be to contribute to improve food security, strengthening livelihood strategies, and building resilience in communities affected by drought and other multiple shocks across all 34 provinces of Afghanistan.

Integrated assistance

The operation utilizes an integrated approach to meet the needs of the population. This will include food assistance and support for livelihoods through actions such as greenhouses and drought-resistant agriculture. Support for household needs is addressed through in-kind assistance such as household kits and winterization kits as well as through multipurpose cash.

Health & Care including Water, Sanitation and Hygiene (WASH)

Health services are provided for areas that have health service gaps focusing on primary health care services including immunization; community health and first aid programming that will enhance the community's capacity for health support which will also include community-based surveillance. Water and sanitation facilities – especially for schools and communities surrounding it will also be constructed. Health promotion activities are included in all these actions with inclusion in all aspects of health priorities such as vaccine-preventable diseases and COVID-19.

Protection and Prevention

The operation will streamline protection, gender, and inclusion as well as community engagement and accountability in all the activities in all sectors. The operation will ensure social inclusion and ensure all layers of the community will be able to receive support as needed. This includes actions such as supporting marastoons as well as single parent households in addressing their livelihoods needs. Climate adaptation is being incorporated to reduce the vulnerability of the communities together with the inclusion of risk reduction activities. Recovery programming is also included in all sectors.

To streamline and ensure the sustainability of the actions taken within this operation, a framework has been developed to map the priorities. The following are the pillars of the framework:

Pillar 1 (Addressing immediate humanitarian needs):

Will entail delivery of urgent humanitarian assistance to people affected by disasters and crises, proactively taking early action measures to reduce people's vulnerabilities, and enhancing people's abilities to anticipate, respond to, and quickly recover from crisis.

Pillar 2 (Supporting recovery and bridging to development):

- Comprehensive humanitarian-development bridging programming building around health services with primary role of addressing maternal and child health (including immunization against vaccine preventable diseases), mental health and psychosocial support (MHPSS), and integrating other services such as water and sanitation in schools and communities, community-managed livelihood projects (including on food security), cash transfers, climate action, and disaster risk reduction. Includes alleviating economic hardship targeting vulnerable households with priority on women, especially widows in Marastoons operated by ARCS, as well as those begging in streets.

Pillar 3 (Strengthening local response capacity):

- Strengthening local branches of ARCS, training and equipping of ARCS disaster response teams at headquarter and branch levels, pre-positioning of relief items and winterization kits in strategic locations, institutional strengthening, and digital transformation of ARCS. Will also support institutional readiness of state agencies that work closely with ARCS and other humanitarian organizations in disaster response such as the Afghanistan National Disaster Management Authority (ANDMA).

Enabling approaches

The sectors outlined above will be supported and enhanced by the following enabling approaches:

Coordination and partnerships (Engaged)

IFRC and ARCS will engage in advocacy, humanitarian diplomacy, and coordination with the authorities and other humanitarian actors, including agencies in the Humanitarian Country Team, with the aim of ensuring that the impact of humanitarian crises in Afghanistan is profiled and policy or investment decisions are influenced to address humanitarian needs. IFRC will also aim to enhance demonstration of collective impact through effective Movement and Membership Coordination. Complementary to existing Movement Coordination and Cooperation mechanisms, the IFRC Secretariat delegation in Afghanistan will engage with the Membership who provide support bilaterally or multilaterally via IFRC in moving forward the 'Agenda for Renewal's New Way of Working'⁴ mechanism.

IFRC Secretariat services (Accountable)

The IFRC Secretariat will provide services to integrated National Societies, including on procurement, transportation, accommodation, and security management. All procurement required for the operation will be done by the IFRC Secretariat. The IFRC Secretariat has also engaged two financial service providers (FSPs) through whom cash transfers to community members will be channeled. A Quality and Accountability team has been put in place to ensure that CEA measures are applied, for close monitoring of implementation, and to enhance measures that will improve organization-wide performance. Compliance and risk management aspects are being strengthened through recruitment and empowerment of a talented, diverse, and inclusive team.

National Society Strengthening (Trusted)

The operation will invest in supporting organizational strengthening of ARCS. This is to build on decades of expertise working with all communities across Afghanistan in several sectors. ARCS branches (which are embedded within the many communities of Afghanistan and are serving all people irrespective of their regional, linguistic, religious, or political affiliations) will be strengthened with the view of delivering services that cost less while being transparent and accountable.

The planned response reflects the current situation and is based on the information available at the time of this Emergency Appeal revision. Further information on the operation will be updated through the Operational Strategy to be released in the upcoming days. The Operational Strategy will also provide additional details on the Federation-wide approach which includes response activities of all contributing Red Cross and Red Crescent National Societies.
