NATIONAL SOCIETY PROFILE

As per 2024 Plan. To be updated in full 2025 Plan, as per need

Founded in 1908, the Brazilian Red Cross was registered and recognized in 1910 and 1912 respectively as an entity at national and international level. It was admitted to the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies (IFRC) in 1919.

The National Society has four national departments: volunteering, youth, education and health, and relief and disasters. Its headquarters are located in Rio de Janeiro, from where it runs 69 branches. The purpose of the Brazilian Red Cross is to alleviate and mitigate human suffering; contribute to improving health through disease prevention; develop training programmes and community services; coordinate assistance to people affected by emergencies; train volunteers; and disseminate the humanitarian principles of the Movement. Overall, it seeks to develop the ideals of peace, mutual respect and understanding among all peoples of the Brazilian population. The Brazilian Red Cross carries out its activities in coordination with international and national organizations, the state and private sector and other civil society organizations.

The National Society is currently undergoing an institutional crisis that has led to financial instability, resulting in a reduction of the central technical team and a pause in programme lines. The integrity case regarding the National Society was referred to the Governing Board by the General Secretariat of the IFRC and the Finance Commission in November 2012. The Governing Board subsequently forwarded the case to the Mediation and Compliance Commission (CMC), which accepted it in January 2013. In November 2014, the National Society and the CMC agreed on a restructuring plan focused on six key areas: unity; statute; procedures, regulations, code of conduct, external audit and financial management; debt; strategic plan; auxiliary role.

Currently, an ongoing process of institutional dialogue between the IFRC and the National Society has reactivated the CMC's plan for Brazil. Dialogues with the federal government have begun to address the National Society's institutional crisis, and the Brazilian Red Cross has developed a plan to diagnose its branches, aiming for comprehensive restructuring.

The International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies (IFRC) is the world's largest humanitarian network, with 191 National Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies and around 16 million volunteers. Our volunteers are present in communities before, during and after a crisis or disaster. We work in the most hard to reach and complex settings in the world, saving lives and promoting human dignity. We support communities to become stronger and more resilient places where people can live safe and healthy lives, and have opportunities to thrive.

About the plan

This extract will be replaced by the full plan soon.

The plan reflects the priorities of the host National Society, the IFRC and National Societies providing international support, for 2025 and subsequent years. It is aligned with IFRC Strategy 2030, representing the collective ambitions of the IFRC membership, and is the result of a joint planning process and will serve for joint monitoring and reporting. It will be revised on an annual basis to adjust priorities and funding requirements to the needs in-country.

Explanatory note on funding requirements

- The total funding requirements show what the IFRC network seeks to raise for the given year through different channels: funding through the IFRC, through participating National Societies as bilateral support, and through the host National Society from non-IFRC network sources. All figures should include the administrative and operational costs of the different entities
- Host National Society funding requirements not coming from IFRC network sources can comprise a variety of sources, as demonstrated when reporting on income in the IFRC Federation-wide Databank and Reporting System
- Participating National Society funding requirements for bilateral support are those validated by respective headquarters, and often represent mainly secured funding
- IFRC funding requirements comprise both what is sourced from the IFRC core budget and what is sought through emergency and thematic funding. This includes participating National Societies' multilateral support through IFRC, and all other IFRC sources of funding
- Figures for the years beyond 2025 most often represent partial requirements that are known at time of publication. Many National Societies have annual internal approval processes for funding requirements, and lower figures do not mean a decrease in funding requirements in future years
- Missing data and breakdowns: data may not be available from all IFRC network members for funding requirements. This may lead to inconsistencies across different reporting tools as well as potential under-estimation of the efforts led by all
- Reporting bias: the data informing this Federation-wide overview is self-reported by each National Society (or its designated support entity) which is the owner and gatekeeper, and responsible for accuracy and updating. IFRC tries to triangulate the data provided by the National Societies with previous data and other data in the public domain
